DARK CLOUDS scudding before a fresh north wind brought gloomy, rainy weather Tuesday morning as another foretaste of winter's coming chill was felt in Central Texas. Umbrellas and warm coats appeared on a few pedestrians who braved the unsettled conditions to do a little shopping that morning.

COMPETENT COSMETIC?

Barbara Walters, the first "million dollar" TV news anchor person, will moderate the third presidential debate.

Her appointment as ABC's first woman evening news anchorman then is confirmation of her move from NBC's Today show.

Moderator of the second debate, a former NBC United Nations reporter, was a woman. And Edwin Newman, of NBC news, moderated the first debate.

The League of Women Voters education fund is paying for the nationally televised debates between Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford. Walter Mondale and Robert Dole of course continued the debate in Houston's Alley Theatre last week.

From the beginning, Barbara gained the edge in her new co-anchor role with newsman Harry Reasoner. The polls show ABC evening news is down from the dominant percentage in their first few newscasts, but higher than before.

But Reasoner early on remarked at Barbara's newtime gain: "Barbara, you owe me four minutes."

Ms. Walters must have paid it back. Counting the time she will gain in the third debate, Reasoner may have to run the news show for a week to catch up.

Hardly new to news and comment, Barbara Walters is a "show biz" lift to evening television news. She gets good personal interviews with chiefs of state without sounding like Ann Landers.

Her presence raises the question of whether television has finally acknowledged it can lengthen its format to even an hour, but it cannot attempt to get much more beyond headlines. It is not likely viewer's attention span will last a full hour, except on the shorter-term treatment of "heavy news." And most people seem to think they have enough of that.

The "60 Minutes" format on CBS is carrying a better viewing audience and comes on a dinnertime Sundays. But, it is a magazine format with three reporters and feature material having a week to prepare, or longer. TV news is trying to get beyond the cosmetic treatment of news, but its exponents themselves acknowledge the newspaper is an essential backup and explainer.

Ms. Walters' competence and feminine approach to hard news is apparently acknowledgment that one network needed a breakthrough in approach for a breakthrough in ratings.

Attractive, professional Barbara Walters brings years of early-morning feature talkshow to ABC and to the presidential debate.

She is compelled to do a better job to avoid the obvious criticism that ABC Evening News is by halves "skin deep."

Library Board Approves Budget

Cameron Library Board members approved an $11,821.55 budget for the coming year, from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30, 1977 and voted to give the librarian a raise in salary.

Board member Richard Crowe proposed, and board approved, a $35 per month salary increase for Mrs. Kathrine Looney, librarian.

The budget shows income as follows: $8,000 from the city of Cameron; $1,000 from the county; $1,200 from Friends of the Library; $1,000 in memorials; $100 in fines; and $621.55 interest from certificates of deposit.

Activation of a book committee was discussed, with secretary Kay Green to contact proposed members.

Chamber Plans Halloween Movie

The Trade Committee of the Cameron Area Chamber of Commerce will present its annual Halloween movies on the downtown mall in Cameron on Saturday, October 30.

Dan Long, chairman, announced that the cartoon, "Wylie Coyote and the Roadrunner" will be shown both before and after the full length movie, "Mad Magician."

Cold drinks and popcorn will be sold and some of the downtown Cameron businesses will be open for evening shopping.

Flu Vaccine Clinic Set

A clinic will be held at the Milam County Health Department at 209 S. Houston on Sunday, October 24 from 12:15 p.m. until 5 p.m. to administer flu vaccine to residents of the county.

Bivalent vaccine will be administered to all persons 65 years and older and chronically ill persons in the 3 through 64 years age group. The chronically ill must present a statement from a physician that bivalent vaccine should be given.

Monovalent A/New Jersey (Swine) influenza vaccine will be administered to all healthy persons in the 18 to 64 age group. Persons who have had any other flu shot cannot take another for three weeks, according to Dr. E. D. Perrin, county health director.

The swine flu immunization in Texas resumed Monday with assurances from both state and federal officials that the vaccine is safe.

The Texas Department of Health Resources halted the statewide program temporarily last Tuesday following the deaths of three elderly persons in Pittsburgh, Pa., who died after they received the vaccine.

"It was determined that the deaths were caused by heart attacks in persons previously known to have heart trouble and weren't precipitated by the flu vaccine," said Dr. Philip W. Mallory, deputy commissioner for health maintenance and director of the Texas immunization program.

"The swine flu vaccine is safe and will not in itself cause heart attacks," Mallory said Friday.

He said a small percentage of those receiving the vaccine may have some soreness of the arm, some slight redness of the arm or a low grade fever for 24 to 26 hours. Individuals who are sensitive to eggs should not be given the vaccine, he said.

Mallory said the influenza vaccine is not a new research product but has been made in this country and used on certain patients, including armed services personnel, for more than 30 years.

New Decorations Due For Downtown Mall

New Christmas decorations are being planned for Cameron's downtown mall, according to the Chamber of Commerce manager who reported to the city council Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Barbara Smitherman showed sketches of the planned decorations, which will include 12 foot greentrees with stars, animated snowmen, and a new chair for Santa to visit with children during the holiday season.

The city budgeted $2,000 for new decorations and Mrs. Smitherman said the Chamber would be able to purchase the items and stay within that figure.

In other business, council accepted a bid of $60 to remove the old name from one of the ambulances and paint "Cameron Volunteer Ambulance Service" on both vehicles.

Council agreed to advertise for bids on leasing the building at the city air park, and held a public hearing on curbing and gutter along Fannin St. which is scheduled to be paved by the Texas Highway Department.

Members voted to reject a proposal from Bell Telephone to take over functions of its office which will be closed. The company had offered the city $185 a month in the contract.

Council approved purchase of gasoline and diesel for the street department, which was requesting 8,000 gallons of each, which will last from one to three years. A council committee will visit with the service station owners to see who would be interested in bidding for all the city's fuel needs.

Felix Matula, fire chief, asked if his department could enlist honorary members, with dues paid going to purchase new equipment. His request was approved.

Council okayed a request from a resident on 20th Street for house numbers, so that fire department or

Meeting To Air School Tax Recommendations

A meeting to release findings of school districts taxable value and recommendations on school finance will be held Nov. 1 at the Austin Municipal Auditorium beginning at 8 a.m.

The study is being conducted by the Governor's Office of Education Resources as directed by House Bill 1126 of the 64th Legislature.

A change was made in the meeting place from the LBJ Conference Center Auditorium after preliminary response showed the attendance would be in excess of the seating capacity of that building.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, who is asking the Texas Legislature to have the state take over much of the share of public education's cost now being paid by local taxpayers, said school administrators and members of school boards from all across Texas will be watching closely to see how the figures that are announced match their own estimation.

"Reports of school people I know personally who have had an opportunity to take early, preliminary looks at the figures for their school district indicate there will probably be sizeable differences between the governor's study and what local tax assessor-collectors now say is the level of taxable wealth in their district," Kubiak said.

He added that this has drastic implications for every individual taxpayer in every school district because if the new levels of taxable wealth are appreciably higher than the level presently being used by the local school board, then it means local school taxes can be expected to be increased.

"Right off I don't like the prospects that this study will result in higher local property taxes for many school districts," Kubiak stated. "Tax statements, many which contained bad news in the form of higher taxes, just went out about two weeks ago. Now the fair expectation that this Governor's study could mean a new round of higher taxes next year at this time should stiffen everyone's resolve to work for my proposal to have the state take over much of the share of public education's cost now being paid by local taxpayers."

"Taxpayers and property owners know full well by now that the phrase 'no new taxes' is nothing more than a political slogan and most certainly doesn't resemble what's really happening in school districts everywhere."

"The past two years under the present school finance system only points up the need for local folks to organize and bring some pressure to bear on their local representatives and senators to take some forceful, genuine action when the Legislature meets in January," Kubiak said.

Sales Tax Refund

Cameron banked $1,308.28 in a city sales tax refund from the state comptroller's office this week. Rockdale received $1,342.95; Rosebud, $587.27; and the cities of Buckholts, Lott and Rogers did not have enough sales tax income to receive a rebate this month.

Which 'Brightest And Best'?

Since Americans have no influence other than by their work on who wins Nobel Prizes, it would seem the country is doing well in international letters.

Six American scientists have won Nobel Prizes in the past two weeks: Prof. Burton Richter and Prof. C. C. Ting in physics, Prof. William N. Lipscomb in chemistry, Prof. Milton Friedman in economics, Prof. Baruch S. Blumberg and Dr. D. Carleton Gajdusek in medicine.

The winner of the Nobel in literature will be announced today.

Americans have won the physics awards in unbroken string.

The nation could hardly be said to be suffering humiliation throughout the leadership spectrum among nations. If anything, the scientific community is offering international example far beyond the doldrums our domestic political debate seems to plod through.

How is it we can be so bright in letters, so sure in foreign policy, and so uncertain in politics?

It is just possible we vote for mediocrity which begets mediocrity and circumstances that discourage if not drive away the ablest to fields where the public may not misinterpret or the fanatics may not take potshots.

Interestingly enough, the Nobel winners seldom, if ever repeat, though their work may continue at that level for half a lifetime. Politics and bureaucracy are systemic in assuring public reaffirmation to retirement city.

Most full-chair professors have tenure, but in no way does it promise the Nobel level of performance of these six. The academic community has its own politics.

But American men of letters are delivering as much as they promise in the strictest of competition. We are not so sure our politicians so consistently measure to these exacting standards, other than by the blare of the PR trumpets.

In the vernacular, our political "brightest and best" have "done a number" on us.

We Have; We Do...

A Milam-wide panel of panels has wisely been named to anticipate the needs and impact of a strip-mining operation being proposed by Shell Oil Co.

The input of this group in Rockdale, Cameron, Milam, and Courthouse perspective should maintain misunderstanding at minimum and encourage development to a maximum within the framework of Milam and industrial skills.

Succinctly said, things will be easier when we know what we're doing.

Planning is ahead of prospects of stripmining lignite by three to four years. This may be a model of projection in the research stage.

And why not? Hasn't Cameron and Milam County found small-town success, minimum unemployment and industrial development amidst the worst recession since the Crash of '29? We have.

Don't we welcome modern, efficient use of Milam resources, new jobs, new development? We do.

The services, the builders, the educators, the communities will know what to expect. Growth should be as easy as it is healthy.

The leadtime is about right.

eory was all wrong. Sure, a light car driven by a 100-pound little old lady isn't as hard on a highway as a hefty big car, but you put four fat people in the little car and you've got the same difference."

Obviously, if we'd had dumber office holders, we might have gotten by with less car taxes for several years to come. Never underestimate the politician's ability to underestimate the tax payer's submission to taxation.

By the way, this has nothing to do with cars, just people, but did you hear about the wife who begged her husband not to divorce her and marry another woman because she didn't have anything to wear to the wedding?

look out. He's thinking about one thing--money. You see, in most places the price of a license tag for your car is based on its weight. The lighter car, the less it costs to license it, on the theory that the light cars wear out the highways less than heavy ones.

Quick as a flash, politicians caught on to what this was going to do to their budget. And just as quickly they came up with the solution: throw out the weight theory and tax cars about the same amount as before, with maybe a little added on for inflation.

Water Measures On Ballot

Two important water measures — one controversial, the other generally accepted — will be on the general election ballot.

Proposition 1 would amend the state constitution to authorize another $400 million in water development bonds.

Proposition 2, by constitutional amendment, seeks to authorize another $100 million in bonds for water quality.

Under Proposition 1, no more than $35 million in proceeds from bond sale could go to any one project without approval of the legislature. None of the money could go to developing water resources from the Mississippi River.

The additional water quality bonds would go to grants and loans to local governments to improve sewage treatment systems.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe and other statewide officials, including Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton, support both issues.

Proponents argue the water development fund is almost exhausted and adequate water supplies may be jeopardized in the future unless more money is provided. The fund has financed about $300 million in development projects and about $100 million is left.

Environmentalists argue against giving Water Development Board uncontrolled authority to spend on water projects. Opposition spokesmen claim there is no plan, environmental study or economic assessment to guide the $400 million bond authority.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court is pondering latest arguments over constitutionality of a law prohibiting sale of 46 items on both Saturdays and Sundays by the same store.

The high court held sheriffs have no power to force lawyers to put up security as a condition for making bail for clients.

A yacht owner must pay $141,760 in damages for taking property from a $35,000 craft, the Supreme Court held.

Upholding a $1.8 million judgment in a products liability suit growing out of an alleged carburetor defect on a 1970 Chevrolet pickup would leave manufacturers without defense in such actions, General Motors attorneys told the Supreme Court in a Houston case.

Funds Approved

The House Higher Education Committee approved increased funds for tuition equalization grants.

Under the program, students can get as much as $600 a year toward educational expenses. TEG received $16 million in legislative appropriations this year.

The House committee recommended the legislature appropriate 50 per cent of funds for 150 new family medicine residency programs in 1977 and 30 additional places in 1978.

An increase of about $4,950,000 would be required for the additional assistance aimed at increasing the number of physicians in Texas.

Another recommendation of the committee would require graduate students who serve as teaching assistants to complete internships first and would limit the number of assistants to the number of fulltime faculty members on each campus.

At the same time, the committee lamented sharp increases in state spending for Texas colleges and universities during the last decade.

Crusade Helping

Atty. Gen. John Hill claims efforts of his office under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act have been successful in curbing fraud.

Since January 1973, the attorney general's office has filed 250 lawsuits and processed 35,000 complaints, collected $305,000 in civil penalties and $3 million in restitution to injured consumers.

Hill said preventive lawsuits to stop fraud before it harms consumers afford more effective protection than action to recover money already taken.

According to U.S. Chamber of Commerce estimates cited by the attorney, general, short term direct costs of white collar crime run to $42 billion.

Shots Suspended

The Department of Health Resources last week called a temporary halt to swine flu inoculations to allow time to find out if there are any links between the vaccine and three deaths of old people in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Fratis Duff, director of the department, said there had been no more serious reactions than a little fever and sore arms from use of 900,000 doses of the vaccine in Texas at the time the five-day suspension was ordered to steady reports.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Some people are always criticizing public officials.

"What can you expect from a bunch of dumb Congressmen," they'll say. Or, "We're lucky we're not worse off than we are with those ignoramuses we've got in the Legislature."

There are times though when what we need is dumber government.

For example, as everybody knows, smaller, lighter cars are the thing these days.

Now these cars hadn't been on the road a month till a lot of legislators began to scratch their heads. They began to think, and when a politician begins to think,

look out. He's thinking about one thing--money. You see, in most places the price of a license tag for your car is based on its weight. The lighter car, the less it costs to license it, on the theory that the light cars wear out the highways less than heavy ones.

Farm-facts

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Another Dismal Showing ... Up and Down ... Range Conditions Good.

While farm production of many commodities is at record levels, farm prices continue to slide.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that farm parity for September was 70. That is a decline of one per cent from a month ago, and is nine per cent lower than a year ago.

Individual crop prices, except for cotton, are also showing declines as are all categories of livestock.

Hogs and cotton are the two biggest extremes. Hog prices as of mid-September averaged $38.20 to Texas producers. A year ago, hog prices were at $56.50 per hundredweight.

Cotton is averaging slightly more than 62 cents a pound. A year ago, cotton was 42 cents a pound.

Only one commodity - oats - continues above parity. Everything else is below that ratio.

Wheat prices averaged $2.87 in the state. Parity is $4.89. A year ago, wheat was selling for $3.98 per bushel in the state.

Grain sorghum averaged $4.16 as of the middle of September. A year ago that commodity was selling for $5.49 per hundredweight.

Peanuts this mid-September were selling for 16 cents a pound. A year ago they were bringing 18 cents per pound.

The same story is true for livestock. Beef cattle averaged $30.50 in mid-September; a year ago they averaged $32.10. Calves averaged $30.80 this past month; parity for calves is $67.50.

Sheep and lamb prices are below parity levels.

Broiler and turkey prices are also under what they were selling for a year ago.

IT'S AN UP AND DOWN SITUATION for sheep and lamb feeding in the state. As of Oct. 1, Texas drylot sheep feeders with a capacity of 2,000 head or more had 68,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter.

This is 28 per cent below a year ago, but is one per cent above last month.

Sheep and lambs marketed for slaughter during September totaled 25,000 head which is 29 per cent less than intended marketings.

Current intentions to market are 33,000 during October, 16,000 during November and 15,000 during December.

November and December intentions are incomplete since additional lambs could still be placed on feed.

RANGE CONDITIONS over most of the state are reported in good to average condition. Soil moisture is adequate in most counties.

Wheat fields in most areas are growing well. However, army worms have been reported in most wheat sections of the state. Planting of the crop is now about 50 per cent complete.

Oats are up to a good stand in most areas, although army worms are a problem.

County Agents Notes

Screwworm Cases Being Confirmed In County

By Bill McCutchen

Screwworm cases are being confirmed daily in every section of Milam County. This is shaping up to be one of the worst outbreaks of screwworms in this area since the screwworm program was initiated.

A Mr. Stubblefield with the Texas Animal Health Office was in my office on Oct. 13 making calls and said that fly drops were to be made in areas of confirmed cases for the next three weeks. He indicated that they would be able to concentrate their work more in this area now as freezers in Oklahoma and the High Plains should check the problems there.

As always, it is extremely important for producers to check livestock closely, paying particular attention to new born calves. Any suspected cases should be collected and mailed to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification. Only after positive identification has been made, will files be dropped.

If this year is a normal one, our first freeze will come around November 20. If this is so, that would mean about five more weeks that we can expect to have a lot of problems with screwworms.

Vials for collecting and mailing larvae samples are available from the County Extension Office or from any veterinarian.

Cotton Looks Good

CAMD cotton continues to look good. CAMD is a cotton line that Dr. Luther Bird of Texas A&M has had under development for several years. We have had it in Milam County in test plots for the past four years, and it has been impressive in yield and quality to date.

Three producers have had plots of this cotton including Joe Mueck, Wilburn Beckhusen, and Frank Kratochvil.

I expect CAMD to be a successor to SP37 in this area. It is cold tolerant and disease resistant and storm proof as is SP 37 but it has several advantages.

This year we had enough

Ford Campaigner Warns Farmers

If Jimmy Carter is elected president it could open the door for union organizers to swarm over every farm and ranch in America, according to R. Doug Lewis, director of the President Ford Committee campaign in Texas.

"Carter supports a California proposal to permit union bosses to go into private property without the owner's permission to organize farm and ranchworkers and to picket," Lewis said.

"This amounts to legal trespassing and would deprive the farmer or rancher of his fundamental right to protect his property," Lewis said.

Cotton Report

Trading for the week ending October 15 was active, reports J. B. Russ, officer in charge, Austin Classing Office. According to the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, in the Central Texas Blacklands cotton grading 32 and 42, staple 31 to 33, mike 3.5-4.9 sold for 67 to 70 cents per pound. Grades 52 and 61, staple 31 to 33, mike 3.5-4.9 sold for about 64 cents per pound.

CAMD to get a few bales to run through a local gin to get yield and grade data on. The CAMD significantly out-yielded Lankort in the same field and the micronaire and staple this year on the first cards returned seemed to be quite satisfactory. I will print the entire demonstration results when they are available.

In the mean time, I for one am most anxious to see the CAMD variety released as I feel that it is a step forward in cotton production.

CAMD is not resistant to bollworms and boll weevils, but it fruits heavily early and even with insect pressures like they were this year, CAMD set enough fruit for the insects to chew on and for the farmer to harvest.

On late cotton planted the same time in the same field Kratochvil commented that the CAMD cotton was the difference between stripping cotton and shredding stalks.

Poultry Show

Slated At Waco

The Brazos Poultry Fanciers of Waco will hold their first annual fall show on October 23-24 in Building I-5 on the campus of TSTI at Waco.

This will be their first showing of all breeds of bantams in Central Texas. There will be a large showing of rare and beautiful birds at this time. If you enjoy seeing bantams at their best you will not want to miss this show.

The public is invited and the show is free.

TMA Plan To Expand Care

AUSTIN
To increase the number of practicing physicians in the state, Texas must expand and fully fund primary care training positions, said William F. Ross, MD.C., chairman of the Texas Medical Association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals,

Thursday.

TMA recognizes that we do have a shortage of primary care physicians--those in family practice, internal medicine, pediatrics and obstetrics/gynecology, Dr.
Ross said.

"Between 1972 and 1980, Texas medical schools will have graduated 6,284 new physicians, but to have more doctors for the Texas health care delivery system, we've got to go one step further," said the San Benito physician.

After receiving the MD degree, a medical school graduate generally must take at least three years of graduate training before he or she actually enters the private practice of medicine, he said.
"We do not have an adequate number of primary care residency positions in the state.
The new doctor is forced to seek training positions in other states," Dr. Ross said.

Concluding a two-year study, the TMA Council on Medical Education and Hospitals has designed a plan for development and expansion of primary care residencies in Texas, Dr. Ross said.

The doctor said the plan is based on the principle that the number of first year residency positions should approximate the number of graduates of Texas medical schools, and that the state funding should be provided for the expansion of primary care residency programs.
Appearing before the Program Development Committee of the Coordinating Board
Texas College and University System, Dr. Ross urged the Texas legislature to support state funding for residencies beginning with the 1977-79 biennium. With full funding of proposed residencies, the present 388 primary care residencies could be increased to 618 by 1979, he said.

"If such a plan is not implemented, increasing numbers of Texas graduates will be forced each year to leave the state to do their graduate training. In July 1976, 112 Texas graduates sought positions in family practice, yet Texas had only 85 positions to offer. Thus 27 potential Texas family doctors left the state, and studies have shown the probabilities of their practicing in Texas are lower since they are training elsewhere," he warned. "Perhaps the Texas
Commissioner of Higher Education, Kenneth Ashworth, put it best when he said,
'You might say that Texas is subsidizing health care delivery in other states.'"
By providing full state funding for residency programs the following should occur--the state will have available physicians who have received their training in quality programs, the probability of producing significant numbers of physicians in the least amount of time will be increased, and the types of physicians that are most needed will be made available, Dr. Ross said.
"Because we want more doctors to serve Texans in the quickest possible time, we support full funding and expansion of primary care residencies in Texas," Dr.
Ross said.

"By utilizing the state's limited resources in this manner, the Texas Medical Association firmly believes that the state of Texas will be able to provide the largest number of physicians
in the least amount of time with the most efficient use of our citizens' tax dollars," he said.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Civic Garden Club

The members of the Civic Garden Club held their October 13 meeting at the club house of the Business and Professional Women. Mrs. M. H. Wimberly and Mrs. Jim Gandy served as hostesses and offered refreshments during the social hour which preceded the meeting proper.

Mrs. Theo Aschenbeck, club president, presided for a short business meeting. Mrs. C. S. Raney of Buckholts was welcomed as a new member to the club. Gift wrap paper, ordered from the Lighthouse For The Blind, at the previous meeting, was distributed to members. Members made plans to attend the Zone 2, District V meeting which will be held in Mexia on November 10.

The featured speaker for the program was Mrs. K. D. Albritton of Belton, a member of Temple Garden Club who is a nationally accredited flower show judge with a Master Certificate. She gave a lecture, demonstration, workshop type presentation on the basics of flower arranging helping the club members in preparation of their placement flower show scheduled for December 9. Mrs. Albritton had numerous interesting flower arrangements in which she noted the selected elements, space, line, form, pattern, texture and color showing how these were used according to the principles of design to give balance, dominance, contrast, rhythm, proportion and scale. The purpose of all these she said, is to attain beauty, simplicity, expression and harmony in a flower arrangement. Mrs. Albritton listed for the value of flower arranging, as making the home and public places more beautiful, makes a home more original and expressive, is a creative outlet and hobby for the arranger. It increases appreciation of beauty in plants and it gives one a feeling of partnership with God.

For a salad that radiates perfection, here's how to prepare the greens. First, wash the lettuce, dry it and replace it in the refrigerator for crisping. This way the lettuce will be dry and perky. If lettuce is wet, the dressing won't cling.

Try varying the breakfast routine with Eggs Benedict. Toast English muffins, then add ham, poached eggs and Hollandaise sauce. It will perk up your morning. For that matter, it's a great idea for lunch.

Pleasure & Profit

The Pleasure & Profit Club met Thursday, October 14 at the home of Jackie Clark. The hostess served sandwiches and a dessert with iced tea.

Lillian Lester was welcomed to the club as a new member and Alice Hughes was voted into the club as a new member.

Christine Holcombe took the group on a delightful imaginary tour with her interesting and informative commentary while she showed slides of her trip to Spain and Morocco.

Mrs. Mabel Davidson of San Antonio was a guest at the meeting.

KIOOD ART GUILD

An exhibit of about 25 paintings by members of the KIOOD Art Guild is now on display at Temple Junior College.

The exhibit in the north hall gallery of the Fine Arts Building will be open through November 1. Included are oils, acrylics, watercolors and collages by KIOOD members, most of whom live in the Killeen-Fort Hood area.

The exhibit is free and open to the public.

GEM & MINERAL

The 7th Annual Show of the Trinity Gem and Mineral Society of Temple will be held on October 28, 29, and 30. The show will be located at the Towne and Country Shopping Center, South IH 35 in Temple. The hours are from 9 til 9 Thursday and Friday and from 9 til 6 Saturday.

The show is free to the public, and Friday, October 29, has been designated as "Special School Children's Day."

Among the many displays will be cases of quartz crystals, geodes, opals, polished agate of all types and shapes, faceted stones, fossils of marine life, and many other gems and minerals.

Robert Coufal of Temple is chairman of the show this year.

Costume Safety For Halloween

As Halloween nears, safety comes to mind--especially costume safety. Here are some ways parents can make children's trick or treating safer this year.

Consider using make-up to decorate the face rather than wearing a mask which may block vision.

Sew or glue reflective tape to both front and back of the costume, be creative and incorporate the tape into the costume design.

Check labels or packaging on purchased costumes for flame retardant finishes. Children may be exposed to many direct sources of fires such as lighted pumpkins, colorful candles, or open fires for roasting marshmallows.

For home-sewn costumes, select fabrics that have flame retardant finish. Or apply one at home--aerosol or home made. But remember that the commercial aerosol may not be effective on all fabrics, so check the aerosol label.

A recipe for making flame retardant finish is as follows, but be cautioned that this solution will work only on costumes made of muslin, burlap, old sheets, items made of cotton, cotton blends, or other natural fibers. It is not good on synthetics or resin-treated cottons.

GED Test Sat. Oct. 23

The GED test will be given Saturday, October 23 at Ben Milam school beginning at 8:30 a.m. Those interested in taking this test are urged to attend.

Split peas are specially grown whole peas that are dried and their skins removed by a special machine. A second machine then breaks the peas in half.

thetics or resin-treated cottons.

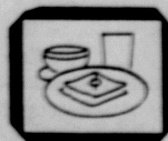

Dissolve three ounces of boric acid in two quarts of hot water and stir in seven ounces of borax (boric acid and borax are available at drugstores.)

Soak the costume in this solution for about five minutes, then wring out and hand. When just damp, iron until dry.

This solution will not appreciably change the fabric, although any fabric that will shrink or discolor in water will be affected by the solution. This treatment will not fire-proof a costume, but will help it to resist ignition and spreading the fire. It will be effective until the costume is laundered.

And for Halloween, every child yearns for a Jack-O-Lantern. There are a few rules to follow in making this Halloween favorite.

Select a fresh pumpkin.

Rogers Band To Honor I.J. Baca

Monday night, October 25 at 7:30 the Rogers Band Boosters Club will dedicate the new band hall to Mr. I. J. Baca who organized the first Rogers Band in October of 1936. He stayed in Rogers until April of 1944 when he retired from teaching. But his heart never left.

The band members composed the words of the first school song, "On Ye Eagle March." Mr. Baca put the music to the words.

He married Leona Fuch of Buckholts, Nov. 23, 1923. After his teaching career ended, he and his wife owned and operated the Baca Music store on the outskirts of Temple.

The favors he did for the Rogers band and its members would fill a large book. He never charged enough for his labor so he was not a rich man dollar wise but the love and respect he had from all those who knew him made him a very wealthy man.

Local Girl Winner At Heart Of Texas Fair

Miss Jocelyn Lanice Glaser, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Glaser of Buckholts, received awards on three of her entries at the Heart Of Texas Fair in Waco. She placed third on her original oil painting of deer; third on her sewing entry, a two-piece tennis dress and shorts set; and fourth on her original black and white pencil drawing of a horse. Miss Glaser competed in the 9-13 age group.

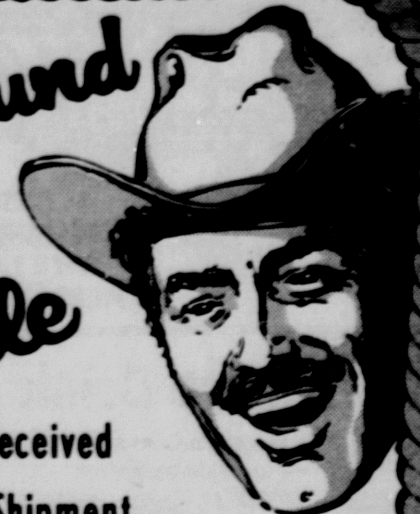

Jocelyn is a sixth grade honor student at Buckholts Elementary School and a four-year member of the Buckholts 4-H Club.

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Asks Help For Children

While paying for a meal, or reaching for your wallet for any purpose in the next few weeks, the people of Cameron and Rockdale will often have a chance to help buy a breath of life for children suffering from lung-damaging diseases.

"We hope people will make this valuable and special purchase by dropping a few coins, or even better, a few dollars in one of the may CF canisters that campaign volunteers have distributed across Cameron and Rockdale," said Mrs. Bobby Charza, campaign chairman for the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The canisters, located at stores, restaurants, banks, and other similar businesses, are part of the Chapter's 1976 Breath of Life

Campaign, which is extended to October 21, this year so that more funds may be raised for research, care, and education programs on children's lung-damaging diseases.

These diseases include cystic fibrosis, asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, "childhood emphysema", and recurrent pneumonia.

"Many of these children, especially those with cystic fibrosis, must struggle to breathe," Mrs. Charza added. "These children's lung damaging diseases are crippling. Of disease that kill children, lung disease is second only to cancer. The most serious of these, cystic fibrosis, is the number one genetic killer of children."

Carter Promises Tax Relief

Milam Countians who are concerned about the ever-increasing tax burden placed on lower- and middle-income families should cast their votes for Jimmy Carter on November 2, Debs Hensley, Carter campaign coordinator for Milam County, said this week.

Hensley said that Carter is committed to a drastic simplification of the tax system to lower the taxes for middle- and lower-income groups.

"The Republicans have deliberately tried to distort Carter's position on the tax issue," Hensley said, "but the record is clear: Carter has consistently come out for a lowering of taxes for the middle- and lower-income people and for shifting the tax burden to the large corporations who have been getting away with paying little or no taxes for so long."

Hensley added that local taxpayers have seen property taxes go up in the past eight years because of the rapid rise of inflation under the Republican administration.

"Our local governments are caught in the middle," Hensley charged, "trying to cope with increased costs of services caused by the Republic inflation." He added that under a Carter Administration, taxpayers will not only see a drop in federal taxes but also an easing of the property tax burden because of Carter's commitment to bring inflation down.

Training in Cameron at the Methodist Fellowship Hall on Third Street, November 3 at 7 p.m. The training will be conducted by Dr. Bill Jackson, 4-H and Youth Specialist from Stephenville.

Many people are unaware of what a method demonstration is, and if this is the case with you, this will be an excellent opportunity for you to find out. Even if you are an old hand at these demonstrations, you may learn even more about what it takes to have a winning demonstration.

This is one of the best methods of learning 4-H has to offer and we hope you will attend this training even if you do not belong to 4-H.

Yoemen Face Critical
Test Against 3-0 Hornets

It will be a battle for life for both the Cameron Yoemen and Caldwell Hornets Friday night.

The Hornets are undefeated in district action and a win is a must to keep their hopes alive for a district crown.

Although the Hornets are the only other undefeated team in district competition other than Rockdale they have been beaten twice this year in pre-district play.

In the opening game of the season the Hornets were defeated by Somerville 13-6. Caldwell was also defeated by the same margin by LaVega. Waco LeVega 13-6. Caldwell was also defeated by the same margin by LaVega. Waco LeVega 13-6.

Although the Yoemen's hopes are slim for a district title the pride of going 6-1 in district play will be on the line.

The Hornets have scored 76 total points in district action. Their offensive line will average 191 pounds across the front. In the backfield the Hornets will average 176 pounds per man.

For the Hornets they will depend on the explosive running of senior fullback John Ayers. Last week against Pflugerville Ayers rolled up 254 yards in the winning effort.

Caldwell will depend on the running game for the bulk of their offensive game.

Hornet quarterback Bill Jones has used the aerial game only a few times this season.

When Jones goes to the air his favorite receiver will be Ayers coming out of the backfield.

The Hornets will establish their running game primarily up the middle and will run a very effective option.

The Hornet defensive line will average 191 pounds with the secondary averaging 155 pounds.

The defense will depend on Anthony Carroll, a junior weighing in at 193 pounds, at the tackle position. Also

Yoe JV Pounds Cougars, 34-14

In a combined effort between the Yoe freshmen and junior varsity teams the Yoemen were able to defeat Rosebud-Lott's JV, 34-14, in football action Thursday night in Travis.

The Yoe JV took a 20 point lead before the Cougars were able to get on the scoreboard.

In the first quarter the Yoe JV took an 8-0 lead on the first offensive possession. Lawrence Lowe scored from 40 yards out on a quick-pitch around the right end.

Lowe took the same pitch and converted for the 2 point PAT to give the Yoemen the early lead.

Mid-way through the second stanza the Yoemen increased their lead when quarterback Edward Steamer scored on a QB keeper. Steamer blasted up the middle and rammed 60 yards for the TD. The try for two failed.

Later in the same quarter the Yoemen started a 55 yard drive down the forgiven turf and Lowe again culminated the drive for the third Yoe TD.

Lowe swept the right end from his tailback position and dashed 12 yards. Again the PAT try for two failed.

Just before the close of the first half the Cougars rebounded and capitalized on a Yoe fumble that set the Cougars up on the 20. The Cougar try for two failed.

FIELD GOALS... What could be better than a 64 yard world-record field goal? Well, it could be a 65 yard field goal.

It was both for Texas Aggie kicking specialist Tony Franklin. In the second quarter of the Aggie - Baylor game Saturday at College Station the sophomore kicker booted a bare-footed 64 yard hum-dinger.

The 64 yarder stood as the NCAA record for only a few minutes. That was until the third quarter of the conference game when Franklin booted the pork 65 yards through the uprights at Aggie Field.

Hold on. The news of a 69 yard field goal came from Abilene. Abilene Christian's Ove Johansson, a student from Gothenburg, Sweden unlaced the pork for the NEW world record of 69 yards.

Let's compare the records:

In 1970 Tom Dempsey kicked a 63 yard field goal while playing for New Orleans against Detroit.

The NCAA record book showed Clark Kemble as the record holder since last November when he booted a 63 yard field goal for Colorado State when they were playing Arizona.

For the Southwest Conference the history book Steve Little of Arkansas tapped a 61 yarder against Tulsa.

Now the world record will be held by Johansson at the unbelievable 69 yard mark.

For the NCAA record Franklin will hold the record with the 65 yard mark.

Watch out Bjorn Borg -- your friends are here.

PUNCHES... Tony Perez vs. Muhammad Ali.

On a billboard it would like like a world title bout -- but it was more than just a boxing match inside the ring.

The setting was in a federal courtroom where pro-referee Tony Perez was bringing a libel suit against Ali.

There was a $20 million mark on the suit, where Perez claimed that Ali had made unjust comments about a match that he had been the referee and that Ali made the statement that he had a bet on the bout.

Being a true fighter, Ali came back with his famous right punch -- in the form of a counter suit, which claimed that Perez had called him a "dirty fighter."

In round one the jurors deliberated 80 minutes and called a "foul" on both Perez and Ali and threw the suit and counter suit out.

The presiding judge also called it a "draw."

CAULEY SAID... "I only ask that my team give me what talent they have and give me 100% of that talent -- not more and not less.

"I don't believe in getting a 110% or more because a person can't give more than he has, and all that we ask for is that 100%.

"To be frank, I was disappointed in the first half performance of the game. We just didn't want to get after it and the score at half showed that.

"I told the guys all week that they better get ready for Rosebud-Lott and all they did was nod their heads. I think that they thought that I was crazy but after the first half they understood what I meant.

"The Cougars had a lot of fire and we helped them along. They were ready that first half and we were not.

"Donald Komar has done a real good job for us this year as punter. He has really worked hard and he has made a lot of difference in a lot of cases."

CALDWELL... Caldwell is undefeated in district play. They are a large team averaging 191 pounds across the front of offensive line and 190 pounds on defense.

"John Ayers is a real fine back and rolled up 254 yards last week against Pflugerville.

"I know that they will be fired up and ready to play us.

"They are a run-oriented football team, but we have seen them pass.

"They lost their opener against Somerville and then lost to LaVega. I really don't know why they had trouble with Somerville, but they have come back and have played some real fine football.

"We will have our hands full and I know it will be a good game."
